

Junior Yuki Morimoto

oi@mori-moto.com

mori-moto.com

Education

State University of Londrina Brazil

BA in Graphic Design

University of Porto Portugal

Academic mobility in Communication Design

Skills

Communication

Research, collaboration,

English (proficient), Portuguese (native), Spanish (conversational)

Software and coding

Image editing → Photoshop, Lightroom

Vetorial → Illustrator

Editorial → InDesign

Video and animation → After Effects, Premiere Pro

Prototyping → Figma

Web and coding → Astro, Headless CMS (Sanity, Wordpress), Javascript,

Processing, P5.js, CSS, PHP, Wordpress, Shopify (headless)

Areas of interest

User interface

Creative/web coding

Human-computer interaction (HCI)

Visual design

Typography

Animation

Experience

Anna's 2022–2023

Graphic designer, Web designer, Developer

São Paulo, Brazil

Toronto Metropolitan University 2021

Collaborator at the Creative School of Toronto Metropolitan University through the Mitacs Globalink Research program.

Academic research on integrated technologies in the printing industry, e-book accessibility and textile inkjet printing.

Toronto, Canada

Design for Black Lives 2020

Volunteer selected as back-end developer

New York, US (remote)

Extracurricular activities

School for Poetic Computation 2025

“Interrogating Computational Approaches to Art” class student

New York, US (online)

ZUM/IM5 Photo Festival 2023

“Líquido digital super crystal” photobook selected for exhibition

Instituto Moreira Salles / São Paulo, Brazil

34° MCB Design Award 2020

Selected for exhibition

Museu da Casa Brasileira / São Paulo, Brazil

7th International Forum of Design as a Process 2019

Selected research paper for presentation

Palmira, Colombia

Digital Bauhaus Summit 2019

Attendee

Weimar, Germany

August 2026